

Perceptis

Perceptis is a holding company formed to acquire commercial wireless technology companies.

To date, Perceptis has completed two acquisitions:

EVI Technologies, LLC, is a leading designer and manufacturer of custom wireless systems for remote data acquisition—such as eavesdropping devices—for the U.S. intelligence community.

Instantel, Inc. is a developer, manufacturer, and marketer of highly engineered vibration-monitoring equipment. This equipment includes seismographs, as well as wireless and monitoring technology products focused on security concerns related to protecting newborns and monitoring Alzheimer's patients.

Prairie Capital, through its preferred stock investment, partnered with SE Capital to form Perceptis.
